

Chilled, dry and frozen food distribution

For over 20 years, Bidfood has been the one-stop supply solution distributing wholesale food to the foodservice and catering industry across Australia.

Procurement Australasia partners with Bidfood to provide our Members with access to all major foodservice national brands delivered through highly efficient online portals.

What steps is Bidfood taking in reducing the risk to customers and the potential spread of COVID-19?

Bidfood has developed and distributed an educational poster to all sites outlining the steps to preventing against the spread of the disease, based off information provided by the Australian Government Department of Health. An information sheet has also been provided to their drivers and other customer-facing staff. They have developed a portal on their internal team site that all staff can access for frequently asked questions, government health advice and additional posters if required. Regular updates are also being provided to managers of all sites by their Compliance and Risk team. The educational poster and information sheet provided to all sites is based off the information provided in the Australian Government's health advice.
